COUNCILMAN DEAD AND TWO WOUNDED AT CENTRAL CITY

J. D. Wood, Mine Workers' President, Victim of Street Battle Last Night.

Discharged Policeman Held Guilty of Crime.

TWO OTHERS BADLY WOUNDED

J. D. Wood, dead.
Tom Wood, miner, shot in bowels and arm.
John Magann, ex-policeman, shot in both legs.
Will Johnson, miner, shot in right leg.

Central City, Ky., April 22.—(Special.)—Councilman J. D. Wood was killed and his brother, Tom Woods, probably fatally wounded in a street battle with John Magann, James Jenks and Walter Hardwick last night. Magann was seriously wounded. The shooting occurred about 9 o'clock at the intersection of the Illinois Central and Louisville & Nashville tracks, and about 50 shots were fired.

The trouble is supposed to have arisen over the discharge of the three men from the police force and the employment of Charlie Wood, brother of the councilman, who was at home asleep when the fight occurred.

None of the witnesses can tell exactly how the shooting started, but when it broke out revolvers spat fire and barked on all sides and the sound was like a mighty battle for a few moments. When it was all over, and two of the former policemen had hurried away from the scene, Councilman Wood was found to be dead and Charlie Wood and Magann wounded.

Councilman J. D. Wood formerly was president of the district mine workers' union and is well known all over western Kentucky.

Walter Hardwick is locked up. The trouble started in January when the newly elected council undertook to revolutionize the city government. Two were threatened with death and one of them, John Soder, died from the effects of the threatening letters sent him.

A truce was later agreed upon and new officers were installed. J. D. Wood, the only one killed, was the only married one, but was recently separated from his wife. He was at one time president of the United Mine Workers, district 23, and was organizer for the A. F. of L. and a member of the city council.

A number of indictments are pending against him and were to be tried today in Greenville. Much excitement prevails and some threats are made, but no further trouble is anticipated.

It is impossible to tell just who began the shooting or how it started. J. D. Wood lived but a few minutes and the body lies in the Commercial hotel.

Walter Hardwick and Magann were talking together when approached by the Wood brothers and others. Is the statement of Magann.

GERMAN BUYERS

G. H. Warneken, a well known tobacco buyer of Clarksville, Tenn., and R. Lange, of Bremen, Germany, representative of a big tobacco import house, arrived yesterday and returned to Clarksville today. They have purchased small quantities of tobacco here and elsewhere.

MILLIONAIRE'S SON IS ARRESTED FOR VAGRANCY

Pittsburg, April 22.—Livingston Roe, Jr., son of the Standard Oil magnate, was fined $10 in police court today as a vagrant. His father lives in New Jersey. The son had been without food or shelter for three days. At one time he held a $25,000 position as London agent of the Standard. If Roe receives the promise of assistance from his father before the day is over the sentence will not be effective. The son is without money and will have to serve time.

Troops Ordered Into Trigg County to Bag Parent Organization of Night Riders East of Tennessee.

Grand Jury of Calloway County Engaged on Other Business Today—Kirksey Law and Order League.

Frankfort, Ky., April 22.—(Special.)—Troops are to be sent tonight to Trigg county in an effort to break up what the governor thinks is the parent body of the night riders. General Williams will be in command and a plan similar to that pursued in Calloway county will be followed.

Few Developments.
Murray, Ky., April 22.—(Special.)—Developments in the night rider situation at Murray were few yesterday and this morning. The grand jury probably will return some indictments tonight, but not against night riders. The county officials are seeking corroborative evidence for the testimony of Murray Harris, Bob Duncan, one of the first men indicted, gave bond and was released from jail.

Kirksey Has Enough.
The following statement is published today:

"We, the undersigned citizens of the Kirksey neighborhood, publicly endorse the prompt and effective action of our County Judge Wells and other officers in putting a stop to night riding in this county and pledge our officers our earnest support in their attempt to drive it out of our midst, for we know that it is detrimental to our country and will be the ruin of the tobacco association if continued."

SENTIMENT IN HOPKINSVILLE TURNS TOWARD LAW AND ORDER ONCE MORE

Victim of Night Riders Says He Knows Who Whipped Him and Will Go Before Grand Jury.

That the Law and Order league of Hopkinsville is on top is testified to by J. W. Wicks, the tobacco buyer, who was pulled off his horse and whipped by night riders during a trip through Christian county. He says sentiment in the capital of Christian has completely changed and night riders can now be brought to justice. He told friends here that he knows the men who pulled him from his horse and held it, and he knows personally the men who whipped him. He will testify before the grand jury there, and the authorities have sufficient evidence to indict at least 50 or 75 people. He said many of the men who raided the town and burned the warehouses, live in Hopkinsville. Like night riders everywhere, inspired by the incendiary speeches of their leaders, they considered themselves immune through political influence and talked too much. Consequently they are well known.

Henry Bennett's Purpose.
One of the amusing pastimes of the guests at the St. Nicholas hotel is to hear Henry Bennett, the tobacco buyer, who was whipped at Dycusburg, badger men he considers night riders. Bennett was made bitter by his experience the night of the raid, and he is determined now to bring his assailants to justice. He has a body guard of three men, and they all sleep in one room. He meets a party from the Black Patch and then he proceeds to denounce them and declare he knows what they have done

RECALLS OLD DAYS.
Efforts were made at the office of the county clerk this morning to determine the age of a colored man named Jim Coleman. He is a pensioner and is looking for an increase from $12 to $15, which the law provides shall be paid to men over 70 years old. In 1858 the negro was sold and a mortgage, which should have been recorded, was taken on the sale. No record of such mortgage could be found at the court house and as the case now stands there seems to be no way for the negro to establish his age.

Judge Wells Returns.
County Judge A. J. G. Wells returned from Louisville at noon today, but declined to say anything about his trip or his mission. He admitted that special counsel will assist the prosecution, but would say nothing further.

DAY RIDER AFTER UNION FARMER TO BREAK CONTRACT

Morganfield, Ky., April 22.—(Special.)—A lone masked day rider went to W. W. Davis, a tenant on the farm of Boyd Harris, a wealthy farmer, and warned him if he did not break his contract with Harris by the end of the week he would be shot or whipped. He said the riders were determined there should be no tobacco in the union this year.

ITALIANS KILLED

Williamsport, Pa., April 22.—After a wild run of a mile, caused by a lever falling an engine and flat car of the Lehigh Lumber company's log road today jumped the track. Four Italians were killed and three fatally wounded. Seven were hurt.

Hayashi to Go to Rome.
Tokio, April 22.—Baron Hayashi, Japanese minister to China, has been ordered home from Peking, and will be sent to Rome. Baron Ijima, now counselor of the Japanese embassy in London, will succeed to the vacant place in Peking.

HENRY CAMPBELL- BANNERMAN DIES OF HEART DISEASE

London, April 22.—Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, former premier, died this morning of heart disease. He was 63 years of age and had been ill for some weeks and resigned less than a month ago. Bannerman was born in 1836. He was the first Liberal prime minister in England since Lord Roseberry's surrender. He brought the radical and conservative wings together and held them so until he resigned.

CAIRO GOES WET BY BIG MAJORITY INCREASED VOTE

Returns Indicate That Nobody Forgot to Go to Polls in Sipewater Town.

Election Held in Other Cities in Illinois.

LITTLE CHANGE IN CONDITION

Chicago, April 22.—Today's count shows 39 out of 62 cities and towns voted to retain the saloons in yesterday's elections. This is the second big contest of the year in the state.

"Wet" Majority.
One of the most exciting campaigns ever held in Cairo and which is likely to leave more sore spots of longer duration than any closed last evening. There were some very unpleasant incidents yesterday, but on the whole, and considering the feeling that had been aroused, there was little disorder reported.

Two questions were before the voters. The leading issue was prohibition embodied in the question on the ballots: "Shall This City Become Anti-Saloon Territory?" The other related to the passing over the mayor's veto of certain interurban railroad ordinances and was represented pro and con by candidates for aldermen in five of the seven wards of the city. Both propositions were defeated, the result in detail being as follows:

Prohibition.	For.	Against.
First Ward	45	665
Second Ward	31	252
Third Ward	53	475
Fourth Ward	41	520
Fifth Ward	83	597
Sixth Ward	146	514
Seventh Ward	266	989

Total ..... 652 4002

Peter Kobler 240.
Sixth Ward—Frank Cannon 346, John Snyder 202, Earl Ford 57, Thomas A. Fuller, 45.

Seventh Ward—W. P. Greaney 908, M. Easterday 284.
Of the so-called "interurban aldermen" E. A. Burke was the only one elected.

Prohibition Movement.
In the prohibition movement some of the ministers and women and children of Cairo were deeply interested, and they had made an imposing street demonstration the day before as a climax to a hard campaign of speech-making and sermonizing on the streets, in the pulpits and elsewhere, also house-to-house prayer meetings. Yesterday squads of women were gathered at the various polls singing and serving lunches, and it was in connection with one of these gatherings that one of the most unpleasant incidents of the day occurred. One party of ladies were gathered at Fourteenth street and Washington avenue and had been there but a little while when a party

TOM JOHNSON IS WINNER OF FIGHT FOR 3 CENT FARE

Cleveland, April 22.—The press today says: "Mayor Johnson won his eight year fight for the three cent fare. The victory came when the Cleveland Electric Railway company, through a mediator, offered to accept $55 per share for its stock as a basis of settlement, the city and a holding company to take over the stock."

DELAY EXPLAINED

Detective Moore has received word from the secretary of state at Frankfort that the governor of Nevada did not understand the expression that W. E. Johnson, wanted here for swindling, is "at large" in that state, an expression in the blank used for requisitions. Detective Moore has communicated with the authorities at Goldfield, where Johnson is held, and the matter will be straightened up so the Paducah police can get their prisoner.

DOG CRUSADE STARTS

Acting under the advice and the suggestion of Mayor Smith, Chief of Police Collins is getting ready to start an active crusade against unlicensed dogs. A dog pound has been erected on the river front below the Illinois Central incline and several wagons have been especially equipped for the officers, who will undertake to chase and capture all the stray dogs in the city. The officers will be armed with dog-catching nets and any unlicensed and untaxed canine that is found roaming the streets will be caught up and carried to the pound. Two or three days will be allowed for the dog owners to reclaim their animals, providing they are willing to pay the tax. Last year only 176 dog licenses were issued and since January 1 of this year only 52 have been issued.

CADETS ATTEMPT TO ASSASSINATE PREST. CABRERA

Washington, April 22.—The official account of the attempt to assassinate President Cabrera, of Guatemala, sent by Acting United States Minister Heimke, says Cabrera entered his palace to receive Heimke in public audience. Five cadets of the military academy, forming a part of the body guard, attempted to assassinate Cabrera. In the melee, Cabrera was bayoneted through the left hand, while an officer of his staff, it is said, was killed. Just after the attack Heimke obtained the interview with Cabrera at the palace, where he is guarded. It is said the five cadets have been killed. All stores are closed. The city is quiet. The populace is astounded and condemn the attack.

MRS. STOREY WINS

Washington, April 22.—After a four hours' deadlock in the meeting of the New York state delegation of the Daughters of the American Revolution, the opposition or anti-administration party achieved an overwhelming victory by electing Mrs. William C. Storey, of New York, as state regent.

The auditing committee's report read in today's session showed a balance on hand and invested in railroad and other securities of $92,157.49, or an increase of over $17,000 above that of last year.

Other interesting reports were those of the historian-general, Mrs. J. Eakin Gadsby; the assistant historian-general, Mrs. Henry S. Bowron, and librarian-general, Mrs. Henry Boynton.

The reports of the editor, the business manager and the magazine committee of the American Monthly Magazine, the official organ of the society, were listened to with great interest.

Plaintiffs Declare They Were Driven Into Exile to Prevent Their Telling of Raid on Princeton, December 1, 1906, and Other Depredations of Night Riders.

Defendants Affirm That Mrs. Mary Hollowell Was Fugitive From Justice, Being Indicted for Destroying Plant Bed Belonging to Her Brother-in-law John E. Hollowell.

MRS. HOLLOWELL GIVES BOND HERE.

ATTORNEYS EXPLAIN WHAT THEY CAN PROVE

How the disturbance in the Black Patch has divided families, arraying brother against brother in deadliest enmity, and stirring women to overt acts of revenge, is clearly shown forth in the $100,000 damage suits of Robert and Mary Hollowell against their neighbors in Caldwell county, for the alleged brutal treatment of the plaintiffs, and driving them from the state. The suits are on trial in the federal court here.

While the plaintiffs assert that the band which whipped Robert Hollowell and kicked and shot his wife, Mary Hollowell, the morning of May 2, 1907, was led by Robert's brother, John E. Hollowell, and his cousin, John W. Hollowell, and that John E. Hollowell's wife was present, because they feared Mary Hollowell would tell of their connection with the raid on Princeton, the defendants are equally positive that they are accused through malice, and that Robert and Mary Hollowell fled from the state because she was indicted for scraping John E. Hollowell's tobacco plant bed. They offer to establish alibis.

The plaintiffs retort that the indictment is part of the scheme to keep them in exile and that it was found while they were living in Oklahoma, and they returned to Kentucky and lived at Paducah for six months afterwards. The bench warrant was served on Mrs. Hollowell yesterday afternoon and she furnished bond in the sum of $250.

The allegation is that after Robert Hollowell's plant bed was scraped about a week before he was whipped, Mary Hollowell incited two negroes to scrape John E. Hollowell's plant bed. The negroes were convicted.

The statement of the attorneys for the plaintiff gives a hint of interesting details in connection with the Princeton raid of December 1, 1906, to be recited in the testimony of their witnesses.

The Princeton Masks.

According to the statement of John G. Miller, Sr., opening the case for the plaintiff, the masks worn by the night riders who visited Princeton were copied from a theater mask left at Robert Hollowell's boarding house in Princeton and carried by his little boy, when they moved into the country near Lamasco.

In his statement Mr. Miller said that the day before Thanksgiving, 1906, Mrs. Lula Hollowell, the wife of John E. Hollowell, called at Robert Hollowell's house and asked for the mask to use at a masquerade at Lamasco. The night of November 30 Princeton was raided, he said, and then John E. Hollowell appeared at Robert Hollowell's house and awakened them to beg Mrs. Hollowell not to tell about the mask. Miller said he told her all the facts about the Princeton raid.

Miller said she asked him banteringly when the next fire was going to be, and he mentioned the name of a man in Princeton, who had talked too much before Ward Headley, one of the attorneys in the case, and John E. Hollowell. She declared if they burned that man's house she would tell all she knew. Since that time, the attorney said, no fires have occurred in Caldwell county.

Christmas week they were all at the home of Robert and John E. Hollowell's mother and John E. Hollowell made some insulting remark about Billies and Mary Hollowell declared she would rather be a HILL

WITNESSES BEING EXAMINED TODAY

Robert E. Hollowell, the plaintiff, was the first witness called in the $100,000 damage suits in federal court against 28 citizens of Caldwell county, charged with whipping Robert and Mary Hollowell and driving them out of the state.

He said: "The first I heard of the approach of the mob was the shooting up of the house of tenants on my place. The mob drew nearer and I heard orders to close in around my house. My wife and I were ordered to come out. We stayed in the house until we heard some one say: 'Bring the coal oil.' When I went out I saw George Brown, John E. Hollowell, and another man on the back porch. All three made us go out in the yard. Brown shook his fist in my wife's face and told her she had been before one grand jury, but she never would have a chance to go before another. The association came here to win and beat—'it would win.'"

The witness said he recognized all the defendants in the mob. Some were on top of the house he said.

John E. Hollowell is his brother, and John W. Hollowell is his cousin. There were about 80 and they were not masked. They said: "We did not come here masked. We want you to recognize us."

George Brown said: "You have worked against the association, but you must join it. We will give you one week to do it. If you tell who is here we shall kill you."

John Gray held a pistol and Milt and Wallace Oliver took hold of his arms and carried him to the wood yard, he said, and made him take off his coat. He was led 75 yards further from him kicking and cursing him and calling him a plant bed scraper. They voted to give him "fifty."

He said Marion Brown and Malachi Pickering whipped him and John Gray held a pistol over him.

When he went back to the house, he heard someone say "G—d—t, Jim, shoot her!"

After all had left, while he and his wife and child were sitting on the floor crying, he said: "Brother John and the Olivers and Jim Hyde, returned and ordered him to leave the country." He said he begged his brother to leave them alone, and he cried on the stand as he recited the story.

Brown, he said, ordered him to join the association, and the next day he went to Joe Murphy's and signed the association pledge.

He could not lie on his left side for several weeks. He was not able to work for three months.

When he returned to the house his wife's face was bleeding and she had a bruise, where she had been kicked in the side. He lost a crop and sold his farm and stock at a sacrifice.

Cross-examination.

The cross-examination was conducted by Ward Headley, of Princeton. Mr. Hollowell denied having told Arch Hollowell, George Petty, Lee Robertson, of Paducah, and others that the mob was masked and he did not recognize any of them. He said some in the rear he did not recognize, but he stuck to his original story that George Brown was in charge. He said he has been going back to Caldwell county on business. He said he refused to tell the names of the mob to the county attorney of Caldwell county, because he feared he would be killed in 36 hours after he did so.

Price Hollowell.
Price Hollowell, 12 years old, son of the plaintiffs, said he heard the

J. OGDEN ARMOUR EXPRESSES VIEWS AS TO BUSINESS

Chicago, April 21.—Optimism is the prevailing note among the big business men of Chicago—the men who have their fingers on the commercial and financial pulse of the West and of the entire country, and who are experts in reading aright its faintest indications," says Walter Wellman in the Chicago Record-Herald. "They believe the corner has been turned; that the worst effects of last fall's panic have passed away; that the restoration of normal business conditions is now going on; that this process of recovery is proceeding along sound and wholesome lines, giving every sign of being permanent, and that the country as a whole is essentially prosperous."

"We are now decidedly optimistic in this house," said J. Ogden Armour when I asked him for an expression of his views as to the business situation and outlook. "Things are now mending. Everything that happens from now on is likely to help the recovery and tend to bring better times. Up to now it may be true that a good deal of the ground gained is sentimental rather than actual; but this sentimental gain always accompanies or immediately precedes actual recovery. We note on all sides a gradual, not rapid recovery. Probably it is better that the restoration of normal conditions does not come too fast; it is the more likely to continue without interruption or relapse."

"It is not only here in Chicago and the West that we feel this change," continued Mr. Armour. "Down in New York recently I found everyone there feeling the same way, much more hopeful and confident than they were during my earlier visit. After all is said, we must still regard New York as the financial center. The trouble started there, and if there is a sure recovery its effects must be first noted there. On the purely banking and financial side everything is again all right in New York. On the industrial and commercial and railroad side the improvement is spoken of by everyone, and the prevailing feeling is one of confidence and strength."

"We are now on the upgrade. Not for many years have we had such a good outlook for the wheat crop. If I remember aright the government figures, they are 91 per cent for this year, against an average of 85 per cent at the same dates during the last ten years. It is axiomatic that the wheat crop is basic in its effects upon the prosperity of the country. Not only are we promised a large crop—probably the greatest ever harvested—but prices of grains are high, due to world conditions, and likely to remain high. As long as the farmer is prosperous the country cannot suffer any long continuance of hard or dull times. The farmer is prosperous and his purchasing power is not likely to suffer any diminution during the coming year."

"Last fall's panic was unlike any other panic that I have ever heard of in this country. Other panics have started in the interior, with the industries or business or banks, and spread to the financial centers. Last year's panic was not in its inception a commercial or industrial panic at all. It was purely a banking and financial collapse starting in New York. It was truly a rich man's panic. Notwithstanding all the harm worked by it, the manner in which the country has endured it and the alacrity with which recovery sets in on a sound and wholesome basis shows that the country is inherently as prosperous as it ever was."

"Decidedly the most important question before the American people is how to prevent such banking and currency collapses in the future. It is obviously enough to everyone that something is radically wrong in our

MODERN METHODS. How They Have Improved a Standard Remedy.

In the 17th Century a wave of excitement swept over England and France when the medical profession discovered such wonderful curative elements in the cod's liver.

In the 18th Century cod liver oil was imported and used extensively by physicians in this country, but it was found to be adulterated to a great extent, and the useless heavy oil which enveloped the medicinal elements, a great hindrance to its medicinal value.

In 1855 a famous physician from The Hague went to Norway and after two years of experiment and research produced a light brown oil from the cod's livers which was said to be more valuable than the pale yellow oil, but the taste and odor was so repulsive that it frequently caused such nausea that it made it unpopular.

The most valuable discovery, however, was later made by two eminent French chemists, who after years of research discovered an extractive and concentrating process, by which all of the medicinal, healing and body building elements of the cod's liver are separated from the useless and nauseating oil. These recovered medicinal elements combined with peptonate-of-lion make Vinol the most scientific and valuable cod liver preparation which the world has ever known.

Vinol is so rich in the elements of life that it imparts vigor to all debilitated and feeble conditions and is unexcelled as a remedy for all pulmonary troubles.

present system. It is obvious enough that something should be done to prevent business being hurt by the failure of banks to perform their usual and proper service. They do not have such periods of tight money in other countries. That must be because they have a currency system which is truly elastic. Every year we do have a season of tight money in our country. We can look ahead and say that at about a certain date the stringency is to be upon us. If a system elastic enough to prevent such things can be worked out in other countries I say it ought to be worked out in our own country, and the sooner the better. I do not pretend to say how it should be done, but that it should be done, so that our merchants shall not every year be at the mercy of a tight money market, with frequent danger of a collapse like that of last fall. I do say, and say with all possible emphasis.

"In our business we have felt a marked improvement," added Mr. Armour. "It is not so much in tonnage as in distribution and number of orders. Meats are high. Both cattle and hogs have gone up 1½ cents during the last month, and this naturally finds its reflex in higher prices of meats. With dear grains and cattle and hogs bringing good prices the prosperity of the farmer is assured, and his prosperity is at the base of all prosperity."

"Our business touches many angles of the modern industrial world, and in all of them the improvement is noted. For example, curled hair is largely used in the automobile trade. In our curled hair department three months ago the business was only 16 per cent of normal. Now it is practically normal. This means that automobile factories are starting up again and sending in orders for hair. Revival in an industry like automobiles unmistakably indicates not only that prosperity is fast returning but that the active men of affairs everywhere have faith that it is returning and will soon be here."

TREE CRUSHED LAD TO DEATH.

Ballard County Young Man Meets Death in Tragic Way.

Kevil, April 22.—The life of Jack James, aged 9, was crushed out by a falling tree, near Ingleside, this county. Some trees were being felled on the farm of W. L. Reesor, and the boy ran beneath one just as it was falling. The men, who had cut the tree were not aware that the boy was anywhere around and were horrified when they saw the tree descending upon him, but were powerless to prevent the tragedy.

Death was instantaneous and the boy's body was shockingly mangled. It is supposed that he became panic-stricken when he saw the tree falling and ran directly into danger, instead of getting out of the way.

He was the son of Thomas James, one of the best known residents of Ballard county. The funeral took place this afternoon at the New Liberty Methodist church. The burial was at the New Liberty cemetery.

Excited Bug Dies at Game.

New York, April 22.—Enthusiasm and excitement over a thrilling play in the Newark-New York Giants baseball game in Newark yesterday caused the collapse from a stroke of paralysis of Thomas J. Eymann, 44 years old of East Orange.

He was taken to St. James hospital and late last night was in a critical condition. He was in the grandstand when Shannon, left fielder of the New York team, made a difficult catch of a fine drive by Sharp, of the Newark. The 5,000 spectators were on their feet in an instant, cheering Shannon wildly. Eymann suddenly sank back in his seat unconscious, his plaudits cut short.

Veto Liability Act.

Washington, April 22.—Notwithstanding the repeated jolts congress has given the policies of President Roosevelt during the last fortnight, the president has not weakened in his demands, and today made it known that he would veto the employers' liability bill passed last week. His reason for this extraordinary action is due to the fact that he has been advised that it is unconstitutional. He says that, from his point of view, it is useless to allow another bill to become a law which will be set aside by the United States supreme court. Charges were made on the floor of the senate, when the bill was under consideration, that it was unconstitutional. It provides only for employees of "interstate carriers by railways."

WHARF ORDINANCE PASSES COUNCIL

Gives Nearly Five Hundred Feet for Boats to Land.

Considerable Routine Business Transacted at Adjourned Session of Board.

SALOON LICENSES ARE REFUSED

Meeting in adjourned session last evening the board of councilmen passed through its second reading an ordinance governing the management and control of the city wharfbank and the levee space on the river front from Kentucky avenue to Jefferson street. In most of its features the ordinance is like the one that has been in force for many years, the only important change being the opening up of the space below the wharfbank to Jefferson street as a free wharf for all sorts of boats. Captain Koger, of the Wharfbank company, Mr. Saunders Fowler, of the Fowler boat line, and Captain Summers were all present and addressed the board upon some features of the new ordinance which was discussed and acted upon one section at a time.

Application was made for saloon licenses by J. W. Eberly and Lee Potter, the first to open a saloon at 209 South Ninth street and the second at 1901 North Sixth. Both applications were denied. Eberly desired to occupy the stand recently vacated by G. A. Chandler, whose license was revoked. The application was accompanied by a protest signed by the vestrymen of Grace Episcopal church and other citizens. This counter petition was granted and the application for license denied. The application of Lee Potter was not acted upon, for the reason that the required affidavit, concerning the posting of notices of intention to ask for a license, did not accompany the application.

Welkel's Sewer.

The proposition of Contractor George Welkel, in which he promises to construct a sewer from Jefferson street to Broadway, along the course of the little stream known as Cross creek, was approved. The conditions under which this improvement will be made are that Mr. Welkel will bear the entire expense of building the sewer and raising the surface of the entire tract of ground to the street level, that he will also dedicate to the city a 60-foot street between Jefferson street and Broadway at the point where the sewer is to be constructed. In consideration of such gift to the city his taxes on said piece of ground will be remitted until the actual cost of the sewer has been paid.

New Alley.

The matter of opening a public alley between Jefferson and Monroe streets near Nineteenth street was referred to the street committee. The ordinance committee was instructed to bring in a measure providing for the construction of concrete sidewalks on Meyers street from Farley Place to Island creek bridge, and from the north end of the bridge to Broad street, on Fourth. An allowance of $50 to pay for linoleum for several of the public offices in the city hall was made to the public improvement committee.

A duplicating machine for the printing of copies of proposed new city ordinances and other documents to come before the general council was ordered purchased. At the request of the board of public works Farley street from Meyers street to Clements street was ordered graded and gravelled.

The session of the council board lasted until 11 o'clock and was attended by all the members of the board excepting Councilmen Lackey and Kreutzer.

HEREIN IS LOGIC.

A strong letter is published by W. D. Cochran upon the attitude of certain state leaders. He says:

"In their communications to the Republicans of the state, they have assumed that Judge Taft, if nominated at Chicago, cannot be elected president, and concede in advance, that he cannot carry Kentucky. No other man in public life, no matter who his preference among the distinguished gentlemen mentioned in connection with this high office may be, has so expressed himself. They have been, for their particular choice, but in no instance have they undertaken to detract from the demonstrated strength of Judge Taft before the people." In this particular, they stand alone. In so doing they stand alone, too, in the unenviable position of having already furnished for the use of the managers of the Democratic end of the fight material for their campaign against the man whose nomination is now assured. If there had been any doubt heretofore, the result last week in Massachusetts would remove it entirely. Senator Crane, of that state, has been the recognized head and front of the forces opposed to the nomination of Judge Taft, yet, there, he met with decisive defeat. Likewise, in New York county and city, in the fight for the control of the party organization, the known friends of Judge Taft were victorious. As the time for the convention approaches, the opposition, as in the case of the opposition to McKinley, will collapse.

"What position then will the Republicans of Kentucky take on the eve of the approaching campaign? Can they afford to add to this personal opinion, which is to be used by the Democrats in their campaign book as material favorable to them, the great weight of the indorsement of this opinion by the Republican party of the state of Kentucky?"

"These men have presented this issue, and ask an indorsement with reference thereto. They ask the party in Kentucky to say to the party in the whole country that Judge Taft is the weakest candidate we can nominate and that we cannot carry Kentucky with him as the nominee."

"Do we not owe it to ourselves to disregard everything else and on April 26th go to the county conventions and express in no uncertain tone our confidence in Judge Taft, and in his ability to sustain himself (as he has always done in the past, no matter where his duty called him), and us, and to lead us to victory, honorable and complete?"

THE PLACE AND THE MAN.

When the Republicans of McCracken county meet to reorganize Saturday in this city, they could do no better thing for the party than to elect E. E. Bell chairman of the county committee. Mr. Bell has been tried and found to fulfill all the requirements of a campaign executive. He presided over the destinies of Mayor

James P. Smith's campaign and how well that contest was conducted is a matter still fresh in the minds of the Paducah public. Observant Democratic politicians bear witness that Mr. Bell's legitimate, but thorough methods, are the hardest they ever had to meet.

Besides being loyal and enthusiastic, Mr. Bell is cool and resourceful. He is indefatigable and fair, even tempered and quick to take advantage of a mistake of the opposition, able to see through an exigency into definite results.

There was no hard feeling after the election last fall. Under Mr. Bell's management of the campaign all elements of the party were welded together, and when the election was over everybody was rejoicing.

Such men as that are needed in the active political work. A party divided against itself cannot stand. With E. E. Bell, as chairman, the county organization will start out on the next four years in the best shape it has ever been. Factionalism is one thing, but in this matter we must have regard to the welfare of the whole Republican party.

THE GOVERNOR'S WAY.

Those who worried at the apparent apathy of Governor Willson in the face of flagrant night rider outrages, received their answer yesterday when General Roger Williams arrived to command the troops in the Black Patch, with authority to use the whole strength of the state's military arm, not only in suppressing night riding, but in running down the leaders and forever putting an end to it. No one imagines that soldiers would have been sent into those counties to protect the lives and property of citizens if the Democratic ticket had been successful, and yet the success of Major G. W. Albrecht in restoring order in the infested district with a small detachment of troops, shows what Governor Beckham could have done had he taken decisive steps at the beginning of the outbreak, before the organization had drawn into it so many elements of society east of the river.

Major Albrecht's work was excellent. He had public sentiment and intimidation to contend with, and policies prevented his receiving the support of county authorities. Yet, there has not been an outbreak since troops were called out.

Now, faithful county officials have been found in the Purchase, and with the breach made in the lines of the night riders in Calloway county, showing a way to flank the strong organization in Trigg and neighboring counties, the commanding officer of the state guard takes the field, and we may look for not merely protection to our citizens, but an aggressive campaign, that can end only in one thing.

MODEL POSTOFFICE MAY WIN.

Committee Expected to Approve Project for West Side Building.

Washington, April 22.—It is expected that the house committee on public buildings and grounds will complete its work and have a bill ready to report within a few days. The prospect for the retention in the measure of the $750,000 for the purchase of a site for a model postoffice building on the West Side in Chicago near the Union station is believed to be excellent. Representative McGalvin, who has taken the lead in pushing the idea, appeared before the committee today to make a final argument in behalf of the project, and the committee members appeared decidedly favorable to his plea.

Sent to Baptist Home.

Transportation was furnished by Mayor Smith today for two orphan boys, aged 5 and 7 years, who are to be sent to the Baptist Orphan's home at Louisville. For two years past the boys have been living with their grandmother, who has reached a time in life when she is no longer able to care for them. Their mother died some three years ago and the children were sent here from Pennsylvania. The whereabouts of their father is unknown, but it is believed he is serving a term in some prison. The grandmother has been a beneficiary of the Charity club and it was through the efforts of this organization and the officials of the First Baptist church that a home was secured for the little fellows in the Louisville institution.

Sent on to Princeton.

Two blind beggars, man and wife, who have been in the habit of coming to Paducah at regular intervals for the past several years, were driven off the street by the secretary of the Charity club one day early this week, and then applied to the mayor for transportation. The man and woman were accustomed to sit on the corner of Third street and Broadway and play musical instruments to attract attention to themselves. They lived in a boarding house on South Third street and had just returned to the city after a long absence. It was not possible to give them transportation at the expense of the city, so a purse was made up for them and a ticket was purchased as far as Princeton.

CHAPTER XXI.

TEN seconds after entering the arroyo I was stumbling along in an absolute blackness. It almost seemed to me that I could reach out my hands and touch it, as one would touch a wall, or perhaps not exactly that, for a wall is hard, and this darkness was soft and yielding, in the manner of enveloping hangings. Directly above me was a narrow, jagged and irregular strip of sky with stars. I splashed in the brook, finding its waters strangely warm, rustled through the grasses, my head back, chin out, hands extended as one makes his way through a house at night. There were no sounds except the tinkle of the sulphurous stream. Successive bends in the canyon wall had shut off even the faintest echoes of the bacchanalia on the beach.

The way seemed much longer than by daylight. Already in my calculation I had traversed many times the distance, when with a jump at the heart I made out a glow ahead and in front of it the upright logs of the stockade.

To my surprise the gate was open. I ascended the gentle slope to the valley's level and stumbled over a man lying prostrate, shivering violently and moaning.

I bent over to discover whom it might be. As I did so a brilliant light seemed to fill the valley, throwing an illumination on the man at my feet. I saw it was the nigger and perceived at the same instant that he was almost beside himself with terror. His eyes rolled, his teeth chattered, his frame contracted in a strong convulsion, and the black of his complexion had faded to a washed out dirty gray, revolting to contemplate. He felt my touch and sprang to his feet, clutching me by the shoulder as a man clutching a weapon.

"My Gawd!" he shivered. "Look! Dar it is again!"

He fell to pattering in a tongue unknown to me—charms, spells undoubtedly to exorcise the devils that had hold of him. I followed the direction of his gaze and myself cried out.

The doctor's laboratory stood in plain sight between the two columns of steam blown straight upward through the stillness of the evening. It seemed bursting with light. Every little crack leaked in generous streams, while the main illumination appeared fairly to bulge the walls outward. This was in itself nothing extraordinary and indicated only the activity of those within, but while I looked an irregular patch of incandescence suddenly flashed the cliff opposite. For a single instant the very substance of the rock glowed white hot. Then from the spot a shower of spiteful flakes shot as from a pyrotechnic and the light was blotted out as suddenly as it came.

At the same moment it appeared at another point, exhibited the same phenomena, died, flashed out at still a third place, and so was repeated here and there with bewildering rapidity until the walls of the valley cracked and spat sparks. Abruptly the darkness fell. As abruptly it was broken again by a similar exhibition, only this time the fire was blue. Blue was followed by purple, purple by red. Then ensued the briefest possible pause, in which a figure moved across the bars of light escaping through the chinks of the laboratory, and then the whole valley blazed with patches of varicolored fire. It was not a reflection. It was actual physical conflagration of the solid rock in irregular areas. Some of the fire shapes were most fantastic. And with the unexpectedness of a bursting shell the surface of the ground before our feet cracked into a ghastly blue flame.

The nigger uttered a cry in his throat and disappeared. I felt a sharp breath on my neck, an ejaculation of surprise at my ear. It was startling enough to scare the soul out of a man, but I held fast and was just about to step forward when my collar was twisted tight from behind. I raised both my hands, felt steel and knew that I was in the grasp of Handy Solomon's claw.

The sailor had me foul. I did my best to twist around, to unbutton the collar, but in vain. I felt my wind leaving me; the ghastly blue light was shot with red. Distinctly I heard the man's sharp intaken breath as some new phenomenon met his eye, and his great oath as he swore.

"By the mother of God," he cried, "it's the devil!"

Then I was jerked off my feet, and the next I knew I was lying on my back, very wet, on the beach. The day was breaking, and the men, quite sober, were talking vehemently.

It was impossible to make out what they said, but as Handy Solomon and the nigger were the center of discussion I could imagine the subject. I felt very stiff and sore and hazy in my mind. My neck was lame from the dragging and my tongue dry from the choking. For some time I lay in a half torpor watching the lilac of dawn change to the rose of sunrise, utterly indifferent to everything. They had thrown me down across the first rise of the little sand dunes back of the tide sands, and from it I could at once look out over the sea full of the restless shadows of dawn and the land narrowing to the mouth of the arroyo. I remember wondering whether Captain Selover were up yet. Then with a sharp stab at the heart I remembered.

The thought was like a dash of cold

HOW OLD IS YOUR COMPLEXION.

The old saying, "A woman is as old as she looks" means that she is just as old as her complexion. It's just as easy to have a clear, bright complexion at 60 as it is at 16, if you will only take care of the gifts nature has given you. Wrinkles, sallowness and facial blemishes are all unnecessary. They can readily be removed and banished permanently by the exercise of a little attention. The face, neck and arms should be thoroughly washed every night and morning in tepid water and just as thoroughly dried. Then throw the greasy cream, the rouge jar and the powder box away and use the following simple wash regularly every night and morning:

Obtain at your drug store Rose Water, 2 ounces; Cologne Spirits, 1 ounce; Eppotone (skin food), 4 ounces. Put the Eppotone in a pint of hot water (not boiling) and after dissolved, strain and let cool. Then add the Rose Water and Cologne Spirits.

This wash can be easily made at home. It does not cost much and is better than all the widely advertised "beauty preparations" you can buy.

water in cleaning my faculties. I raised my head. Seaward a white gull had caught the first rays of the sun beyond the cliffs. Landward—I saw with a choke in my throat—a figure emerging from the arroyo.

At the sight I made a desperate attempt to move, but with the effort discovered that I was again bound. My stirring this called Paul's attention. Before I could look away he had followed the direction of my gaze. The discussion instantly ceased. They waited in grim silence.

I did not know what to do. Percy Darrow, carrying some sort of large bow, was walking rapidly toward us. Perdona had disappeared. Thrackles after an instant came and sat beside me and clasped his big hand over my mouth. It was horrible.

When within a hundred paces or so I could see that Darrow labored under some great excitement. His usual indifferent saunter had, as I have indicated, given way to a firm and decided step; his ironical eye glistened; his shallow cheek glowed.

"Boys," he shouted cheerfully, "the time's up. We've succeeded. We'll sail just as soon as the Lord'll let us get ready. Rustle the stuff aboard. The doctor'll be down in a short time, and we ought to be loaded by night."

Handy Solomon and Paul laid hand on two of the rifles near by and began surreptitiously to fill their magazines. The nigger shook his knife free of the scabbard and sat with it in his left hand, concealed by his body. I could feel Thrackles' muscles stiffen. Another fifty paces and it would be no longer necessary to stop my mouth.

The thought made me desperate. I had failed as a leader of these men and I had been forced to stand by at debauching, cruel and murderous affairs, but now it is over I thank heaven the reproach cannot be made against me that at any time I counted the consequences to myself. Thrackles' hand lay heavy across my mouth. I hit it to the bone, and as he involuntarily snatched it away I rolled over toward the sea.

Thus for an instant I had my mouth free.

"Run! Run!" I shouted. "For God's sake!"

Thrackles leaped upon me and struck me heavily upon the mouth, then sprang for a rifle. I managed to struggle back to the dune, whence I could see.

FEW IMMIGRANTS ARE COMING.

March Shows Falling Off of 106,001 From a Year Ago.

Washington, April 22.—Should the number of immigrants coming to the United States fall off for the year as rapidly as it did during March the troublesome immigration question will soon have settled itself. Noticeable in the record of foreigners admitted last month is a falling off of 2,198 in the number of Japanese from the number admitted in March one year ago, when 3,400 Japanese came to the United States. There was a total decrease in March from last year of 106,601. Last year, in March 139,118 immigrants arrived, while this year there were only 32,517. Aliens debarred numbered 592.

BUSINESS AND THE GOVERNMENT

Subject of Cortelyou at Banquet at Syracuse.

Government Can Do Many Things on Moment to Benefit Public—Tariff Investigation.

LIFE OF A CORPORATION.

Syracuse, N. Y., April 22.—Secretary of the Treasury Cortelyou was the guest of honor and principal speaker at a banquet of the chamber of commerce last evening, his subject being "Government and Business." Nearly three hundred business men of the city and invited friends surrounded the tables and gave Cortelyou an enthusiastic reception. In his address, he said in part:

"Corporations for conducting any enterprise or managing any business are of course differently situated from individuals doing the same thing. Individuals owe nothing to the state for their individuality. Before the state or any earthly form of government began the individual was, and he would be here, were all government to be overthrown. That individuality is 'incapable of annihilation.' A corporation on the other hand, owes its life to the government which brings it into existence. It has only such powers as that government chooses to confer upon it. These powers may be broad or they may be very limited. The statutes granting or providing for such corporations have in many instances reserved to the state the right to alter or repeal the charters and abolish the corporations. Under these reservations much legislation has been enacted for the protection of the public interests. It would appear to be in any case the right of the legislature to exercise a reasonable supervision over the creatures of the government. This is especially true as to corporations that are endowed by the legislature with the right to exercise the power of eminent domain. Most of the first railroad enterprises that were projected in this country were begun by the state on the theory that only the sovereign authority could exercise the right of eminent domain. And that theory underlies the railroad legislation of the states today, the corporation thus endowed with such power being considered the agent of the sovereign; although it was several years before all the states accepted the theory; one state for a long time insisting that a railroad corporation must pay to the owner of land his price for the same when it was wanted for the purpose of the corporation."

The grants of land made by the general government to the several states for the purpose of aiding in the construction of railroads were usually turned over to corporations to do the desired work; and so anxious were the people to get the iron horse to their doors that such safeguards as the opportunity readily afforded for the better protection of the public were not erected. Some of the states have by reason of availing themselves of later opportunity, somewhat remedied the oversight, while some in their zeal have gone too far. But the failure to attend to the matter when proper provision might have been made makes more difficult the supervision which the sovereign power ought to be able to exercise over its creation.

Because of the many controversies that have arisen between grantor and grantee all over the land, in the case of franchises for public works of utility, giving rise to almost constant litigation, in many cases to corruption, just such as our theorist declared would be attendant upon works done by government directly and in the majority of instances to a disregard of the rights of the public, supervision, in greater or less degree, has become a necessity, and the establishment of this supervision is in the line of a due regard for the public welfare.

And let me say, too, that along the line of its fostering care over business interests, government can at the moment do several things that will be of large benefit to the country. It can give us such legislation as will fortify us against financial disturbance and furnish us with a supply of currency adequate for the needs of our business community in all sections and, at all seasons of the year. I believe this will be done. So that with a temporary device, if nothing further can be had at this time, and with provision for a competent commission to study and report upon the question, we shall make progress toward a wise solution of this castly important problem.

It can give us, also, such legislation, through the simple measure now before the congress, as will encourage the upbuilding of our merchant marine, so especially essential to our commercial interests in Central and South America and in the Pacific coast.

NEWS OF COURTS

Federal Court Orders.

An amended petition in the suit of Dennis Jones and others against the Southern Peanut company was filed yesterday. The plaintiffs, who are suing for $22,000, alleged to be due for peanuts, amend their petition to read that the defendants never made any arrangement for an extension of the time in which the debt should be paid.

The suit of Cliff V. Esell and H. B. Douthitt against Z. T. Long and R. H. Gardner were continued until the next term of court. The suits are to recover money alleged to have been paid for worthless stock in the May Pans company at Mayfield.

The suit of H. M. Ross, administrator, against the Illinois Central Railroad company and Bates & Rogers, contractors, was continued until the November term of court. The suit is to recover $25,000 for the death of Richard White, who was accidentally killed.

An execution against John G. Rehkopf was issued in favor of the First National Bank of Marion, Ill., to satisfy an unpaid portion of a judgment obtained by the bank against the E. Rehkopf estate on a note executed by E. Rehkopf on which John G. Rehkopf was surety; $2,881 is the amount unpaid and for which amount execution was issued.

After the evidence had been heard in the suit of the Smith sisters against J. M. White for $4,000 damages as a result of the walls of the White building collapsing and crushing the building in which the millinery store was located, it was dismissed without prejudice on motion of the plaintiffs' attorneys and the suit will be brought again, probably in the state courts, the amount sued for being reduced to a figure so low that the case could not again be transferred to the federal court.

William Lett, who was fined $100 and given 30 days in jail for failing to appear without paying the special tax, requested that he be sent to the Wickliffe jail to serve his sentence and the request was granted.

Marriage Licenses.

In Police Court.

There was no session of police court this morning, the only arrest during the night having been accomplished without the aid of the police.

Reuben Greenwell, colored, charged with malicious shooting, went to the station and surrendered himself and was released upon his own recognizance. He admitted having shot another colored man who goes by the name of "Beardskin" Johnson, in the leg and declares that the shot was with people.

THAW'S CASE HEARD

White Plains, April 22.—Justice Murchaser, of the supreme court, will this afternoon hear application for a writ of habeas corpus in behalf of Harry Thaw. The writ if granted will be against the Matteawan superintendent to show cause why Thaw should not be released. If granted Thaw will be produced in court in the near future, when the real fight will begin. Jerome will oppose the release and doctors in the asylum also on the ground that Thaw still is far from well, although improved. Maudie, depressive insanity, which is incurable, will be the defense. Attorney Gorham denies that Mrs. William Thaw opposes Harry's release. He said Mrs. Thaw employed him.

Tent Is Gone.

W. H. Murray and wife who have lived in a shantytent on the river front near the foot of Madison street, and who were given orders in the police court several days ago to leave the city, got away this morning without leaving any word as to their destination. They lived in the boat that was once occupied by the Joiner children and which they purchased from Chief Collins for the sum of $2. A little later they also purchased a small tent which belonged to the Joiner children, but did not pay for it. Chief Collins and Secretary of the Charity Club Jap Tener, who are interested in the children will try to find the tent.

Must Pay Licenses.

While making a determined effort to collect all fees that should be paid into the city treasury, City License Inspector Robert Hicks has shown a disposition to give everybody plenty of time in which to meet the requirements of the law. Just now, however, he is getting desperately in earnest and says that all persons from whom license fees are due will be given only until May 1, if which to make their payments. All licenses should have been paid before February 1.

mob approaching and his parents dressed but he did not. When the mob called for off and matches they went out, the mother in front, George Brown, he said, and "Uncle Johnny" and "Aunt Lulu" were on the porch. Some men took his papa away. A man named "Jim" drew a pistol and shot at his mamma. Sid Smith, he said, kicked her down the steps, and when the little fellow begged them not to shoot her any more, he said "Uncle Johnny" seized him by the hair and told him if he screamed again he would cut his throat.

"Uncle Johnny," who is a pleasant looking man above the average in dress and carriage, round of face, with a shrewd eye behind his spectacles and a mouth inclined to smile, sat just in front of the boy listening, without a change of expression.

The boy named about half the defendants as those he recognized that morning.

He said the Olivers lived on his "Uncle Johnny's" place and his "Uncle Johnny" and the Olivers went back after the mob had left and told his papa he should not make a crop. He said he and his parents stayed at the house until 9 o'clock next morning, when he went to his grandmother's and his parents went to Princeton. He denied saying that he did not recognize any of the men.

Mary Hollowell said it was "about 12:30 o'clock, when the mob appeared and said: 'Come out, Mary, come out!'"

She said George Brown and Mrs. Lulu Hollowell were at the door. A number of men were on the roof. Brown ordered them out and told them, she said, if they told they would be killed.

She quoted John W. Hollowell as saying: "We fear no judge nor jury."

When Jim Hyde pointed a pistol at her she said, they called: "Shoot her, Jim, shoot her."

The boy screamed, she said, and John E. Hollowell seized him. Sid Smith kicked her and she was unconscious for some time. Will Larkin, she declared, entered the house and drew a chair and said: "I ought to kill you. This shack will present a beautiful view from my house in the morning."

She was not cross-examined and said Lulu Hollowell declared: "It is sweet revenge for me to be here."

It's a mistake to call Grape-Nuts simply a "break fast food."

It is more. All the nourishing elements of wheat and barley, so prepared as to be promptly absorbed by the system for rebuilding brain and nerve cells, and for storing up energy—the capacity to think and act—that's Grape-Nuts.

The flavor of this world-famous food adds to its value by promoting the appetite. "There's a Reason."

IN SOCIAL CIRCLES

Ernest Eastman, of Lyon county, brother of Mrs. Mary Hollowell, resides three miles from the Hollowell place. The second day after the said, he visited them and described the raw welts on their bodies.

Neither he nor Wiley Jones, a Hyerman of Princeton, who took the trunks the next day, were cross-examined. Jones described how the house was shot up.

The Defense.

Sam Cash was the last witness called for the plaintiff and the only thing to which he testified was that he saw the Hollowell house next morning and that it was badly shot up. The plaintiff rested at 11:15 and the defense began its direct testimony.

From the evidence adduced and the statements of the attorneys the defense of all rests mainly on the claim of alibi, while attempts were made to discredit the statements of Robert Hollowell by witnesses testifying that he had told them that the men who visited them were heavily masked and that he did not recognize any of them.

Six witnesses, including John W. Hollowell, John E. Hollowell, Lulu Hollowell, his wife, George Brown, Joel Dunning, father of Mrs. Lulu Hollowell, and Mrs. Smith, mother of Otis and Sid Smith, defendants, testified that Mrs. Mary Hollowell bore a bad reputation and that they would not credit her on oath.

The wives, mothers, brothers and sisters of defendants were used as alibi witnesses.

John W. Hollowell denied being at Robert Hollowell's house and said that he was at home. His wife and grown son and grown daughter were sleeping in the same room with him. Both Lucy, the daughter, and Earl, the son, testified to the same thing, stating that they heard their father call one of the boys after midnight. They did not hear the shooting.

On cross-examination he denied threatening Mrs. Hollowell's life and denied that he entertained an unkindly feeling toward her. He admitted that they had not spoken for about one year before the trouble. He is chairman of the Caldwell county committee of the Dark Tobacco Growers' association.

John E. Hollowell, brother of Robert Hollowell, testified that he was at home on the night of the shooting. He lived about a mile and a half from his brother's house and heard the shooting and noise, but did not go near.

Joe Murphy, another of the defendants and an association prizier, stayed all night at John E. Hollowell's house that night. He went to see Hollowell about prizing his tobacco. They heard the shooting, but did not leave the house. Murphy testified to about the same facts. He lived a mile away from where he spent the night.

Mrs. Lulu Hollowell, Next to the dramatic recital of Mrs. Mary Hollowell, the plaintiff, the testimony of Mrs. Lulu Hollowell, wife of John E. Hollowell, was the most interesting feature of the trial. She stated that she heard the shooting, but did not get up. She was positive her husband and Murphy were at her home when the shooting began and that they did not leave the place. She was equally positive that Mrs. Mary Hollowell bore a bad reputation. She denied being intimately associated with Mary Hollowell up to two weeks before the trouble.

She said she had not visited Mary for six years. She denied being at Mary Hollowell's house on Wednesday before Thanksgiving. She is alleged to have borrowed a mask that had been used in theatricals and which, it is charged, Mrs. Lulu Hollowell used as a pattern for the masks used in the Princeton raid.

Joseph Murphy, the association prizier, admitted that Robert Hollowell went to his barn next day and signed the association pledge. He said Hollowell told him he could not recognize any of the men.

Wallace, Firm and Edgar Oliver swore they were at home, as did their mother. One of the boys slept in a room with their mother, the others in an adjoining room. They are croppers on J. E. Hollowell's farm and were the ones charged with climbing onto the roof of Robert Hollowell's house to set it afire when ordered down by George Brown.

George Brown, the alleged leader of the mob, was watching his plant bed until midnight, when he went home and to bed. His sons testified he was at home after midnight.

Otis Smith was at home. He undressed in his mother's room before the fire the night of May 1, and left his clothing there all night. His mother and pretty sister testified to the same thing.

William Turner, a defendant, was at Othan Knabb's, a quarter of a mile away from the shooting. He heard it, but did not investigate. Lucian McKinney, Freeman Pierce and Othan Knabb all said they heard the shooting while at the Knabb home. They did not know what it was until late next morning.

B. Malone was at the home of his uncle, George Thompson, 12 miles away, that night. George Thompson testified to the same thing. Amos Malone, a brother, also testified to that fact.

Spurlin Murphy was at home miles away, and first heard of the outrage at noon the next day. Grundy Mentor slept in the same room with him, and Menton and Murphy's wife and children testified that he was at home asleep. Grundy lived in Trigg county and had been at Murphy's house a

Hopkinsville, Ky., April 22.—
Judge Barker's decision in the Christian county shirivally case, concurred in by the eastern division of the court of appeals, has not cleared the situation or definitely settled who is sheriff of Christian county. Sheriff Smith, the Democrat, against whom an ouster order was issued by County Judge
Prowse in favor of J. M. Renshaw, Republican, on the ground that Smith had forfeited his office by failing to make bond within the time prescribed by law, is still discharging the duties of the position.

Circuit Clerk Clark received a letter
this morning from Judge Barker saying that the records in the case and the opinion followed by express. The package was expected to arrive this morning, but it failed to do so. This afternoon Duffy & Hanbery, representing Mr. Smith, had the circuit clerk issue an order directed to Judge Prowse and Mr. Renshaw for a stay of proceedings. The papers were served soon after 1 o'clock by Coroner Allensworth.

This action is in the nature of an appeal from the original order as issued by Judge Prowse and the petition supporting this appeal will raise new questions in the case. These attorneys also contend that as Judge
Barker's decision was not received here and entered upon the record within the prescribed twenty days from the day on which Judge Cook granted the injunction, which was on March 2, that the opinion loses its force, dissolving the injunction which has been granted.

Under these conditions they hope to retain the office for Mr. Smith until the June term of court, when the case will be tried out on its merits. Mr.
Renshaw admits that the opinion of Judge Barker was not filed here within the required twenty days, but says that a written agreement was entered into by the parties interested for the purpose of giving Judge Barker additional time in which to lay the case before the other judges of the court of appeals and that therefore the opinion dissolving the injunction holds good.

IMPORTANT DECISION

Case of much interest was tried last Tuesday before Judge Emery, where George Picklin, of this city, was charged with selling intoxicating liquors, and the evidence showed he sold Dr. Fliz, Cremó and Vivo, prepared by A. M. Laevison & Co., and the proof all went to show these beverages were non-intoxicating, and the case was dismissed, as no violation of the law could be proven.

The decision of the court will act favorably with the sale of Dr. Fliz, Vivo and Cremó, which are prepared and sold by A. M. Laevison & Co., of this city.

Mart Coulson Makes Complaint.

Board of Public Works Notifies Employees That City Buyer is Handling the Purse.

MEETING HELD YESTERDAY

Official notice was given the board of public works by Mayor Smith yesterday that he had appointed Ed R. Miller city buyer and in accordance with the resolution creating the office, the board notified the heads of all departments under the control of the board that all supplies must be purchased through Mr. Miller, who is to be given ten days' notice before the supplies are purchased.

The mayor also filed a list of the different street lights that have not given good service during the past month, and the superintendent of the light plant was instructed to have repairs made where necessary.

In allowing the half month pay rolls it was ordered that the poll taxes due the city by employees should be kept out of their wages.

The street inspector was ordered to make out a statement every two weeks, showing the cost of labor and material used in repairing the streets.

William Walters filed a complaint that the surface drainage beside his property in Worden's addition is in bad condition.

The Paducah Traction company was ordered to lower its grades at Twelfth and Caldwell streets and at Twelfth street and Broadway.

The city solicitor was requested to investigate the claim of property owners that Mrs. Connors had fenced up a public alley at Tennessee street between Sixth and Seventh streets.

Mart Coulson filed a complaint that Sewer Inspector Franke was allowing a personal grievance to bias him in making inspections of work done by Coulson.

Need New Patrol Wagon.

Contrary to published reports the police patrol wagon will not be repaired. It has been decided by Mayor Smith and the members of the board of police and fire commissioners that it would be the rankest sort of folly to spend a large sum of money on the wagon as it now stands, so only temporary repairs will be made when absolutely needed and the old wagon will be used in its present condition as long as it is serviceable. When a change has finally to be made a new wagon will be purchased. Drivers Seaman and Terrell both agree with this decision of the mayor and other interested officials.

CAIRO GOES WET

of negro women gathered about them, or near them, yelled and jeered at them, and so mistreated them that the ladies found themselves compelled to leave. They went to Fourteenth and Poplar streets, but were followed there by the negro women and again mistreated.

The saloon men were particularly active in the election in all the wards and they were very much elated over the result, which went far beyond their most sanguine expectations. Their opponents claim that a large illegal vote was polled and they point to the fact that the total vote yesterday, according to the returns, was over 1,000 greater than that of any previous election in the city. They charge wholesale illegal voting. The vote on two former recent elections was as follows:

1904 1905

First Ward .....472 511

Second Ward .....294 283

Third Ward .....409 470

Fourth Ward .....395 467

Fifth Ward .....439 440

Sixth Ward .....418 526

Seventh Ward .....772 897

3199 3600

Some of the leaders among the prohibitionists declared yesterday that they would take steps to contest the election and have it set aside. They claim that hundreds of strangers were permitted to vote, and that many voted repeatedly, especially at the First and Seventh ward polls.

Hard contests were made between the aldermen in the five wards where rival candidates were in the field. Perhaps the hardest was in the Third ward, where Alderman Burke and ex-Alderman Fraser faced each other, both good fighters and popular men.

In the Sixth ward Alderman Snyder made a hard fight for re-election on the same issue but was beaten by a new man, who has large interests in the ward. C. O. Palfier made a gallant contest in the Fifth ward for Mr. Kohler against Alderman Gorman, but found early in the day that he had a bigger job than he thought.

Majority of Cities Go Wet.

Chicago, April 22.—The saloon forces were generally successful in forty or more towns and villages in Illinois which voted on local option. Definite figures are lacking in many cases but it seems certain that not more than 100 saloons were voted out of business, the larger communities almost without exception voting to remain "wet."

The principal exceptions to the general result were Effingham, Thebes, Pinckneyville and Naperville. Thirty-five saloons lost their licenses in these four cities.

In Central Illinois.

Peoria, Ill., April 22.—Local option made decided gains in the city elections held in various central Illinois cities. At Canton, Tipton and Secor the drys won. Washington, Manito, Mason City, Wyoming, Brandford and Rushville went wet.

ATTORNEYS EXPLAIN

Billy than a night rider. After that they did not speak.

Mr. Miller said when Mrs. Hollowell appeared before the grand jury to testify about the night riders she found John E. Hollowell on the grand jury.

Once Mary Hollowell said John Hollowell appeared at her house on the stairs leading to her room and afterwards met her on the road and said he did not mean to harm her, but wished her not to mention about the Princeton raid.

They disputed and Miller said John E. Hollowell told Mary Hollowell that it was dangerous for her to be on the road. He would have her killed.

Scraping Plant Beds.

Mr. Miller said somebody scraped Robert Hollowell's plant bed within a week before he was whipped, and Robert recognized the voice of his own brother, John E. Hollowell, declaring he could establish the alibi, that he was at lodge at Lamasco. They tracked footprints to John E. Hollowell's place. Then John E. Hollowell's plant bed was scraped. That was charged to Mary Hollowell, Robert Hollowell's wife.

All that time they demanded that Robert join the association.

Shortly after midnight the morning of May 2, 1907, Robert Hollowell and his wife, Mary, and their son were awakened by shots fired through their house. The sash of one window was shot until it fell apart. Voices cried for them to "come out." Then three men mounted to the roof, and somebody shouted "get that coal oil." The three then appeared on the porch with their arms around each other.

Mr. Miller said John E. Hollowell, John W. Hollowell and George Brown, a man 75 years old, were recognized. Mr. Miller said he would prove how Mr. Hollowell was knocked down and dragged through the gate and kicked as he was dragged, and was then whipped over the back with a buggy whip.

He said Mrs. Hollowell was knocked down and Jim Hyde pointed a pistol at her and John E. Hollowell, her brother-in-law, said, "Shoot her, Jim!"

Hyde said he couldn't while the child was holding to her, according to Mr. Miller's statement, and when the child was pulled away, Mr. Miller said Hyde fired, the ball grazing her cheek.

He then described John E. Hollowell as dragging the child by the hair and saying if he told anything his throat would be cut.

Robert Hollowell was given one week in which to join the association. He joined.

Mr. Miller said that after the mob left John E. Hollowell and one of the Olivers entered the house and told the victims they would have to leave, and John E. Hollowell shot at Mrs. Mary Hollowell and missed her.

The plaintiffs were compelled to sell their place and flee. They went to Oklahoma but now are residing at Evansville, Ind., where Robert Hollowell is a motorman.

The Defense.

William Yost, attorney for the defense, in a brief statement, said he would not try to contradict the description of the attack on the Hollowells, but he declared it was untrue against the defendants that caused the Hollowells to sue all their neighbors, and that testimony would be produced to show that both Hollowell and his wife had said repeatedly they did not recognize any of the night riders.

He said Mrs. Hollowell left because she had been indicted for plant bed scraping. He alleged that the defendants would each establish an alibi. John E. and John W. and Lala Hollowell, Wallace, Firm and Milton Oliver, John Turner, William Larkin, Sid and Otis Smith, James Hyde, Malachi Pickering, Buck and Urey Lacey, William Tandy, George Brown, Marion Brown Edgar Oliver, Sparlin Murphy, Dick Pool, Jack Chambers and John Gray were at home. William Oliver was visiting R. P. Knabb, Lucian McKinney was at a neighbor's home and heard the shots. B. Malone was visiting his uncle, William Murphy was visiting his brother Joe. Joe Cantrell was visiting George Goodman.

The Jury.

The case was called about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Counsel for the plaintiff was particular to question the jurors, whether they lived in the vicinity of Lamasco and whether they were affiliated with any tobacco association, which would prevent them through fear or loyalty doing justice to either side. All thought they could fairly try the case. Only two men belong to any organization. R. H. Rudolph, of Marshall county, belongs to the Planters' Protective association, and W. C. Willey, of Hickman county, belongs to the Farmers' Union. The jury is composed of W. E. Cochran, Paducah; George Langstaff, Paducah; Major J. H. Ashcraft, Paducah; James Koger, Paducah; W. A. Lawrence, Paducah; C. W. Thompson, Paducah; T. A. Holloway, Graves county; W. A. Gresham, Lyon county; R. H. Rudolph, Marshall county; W. N. Davis, Livingston county; W. P. Cherry, Carlisle county.

HERMAN MATTHEWS WILL SERVE ANOTHER TERM.

Herman Matthews, colored, who has been in the county jail ever since last Fourth of July, was released today only to be turned over to the city authorities and incarcerated in the city jail, where he will be compelled to serve 103 days on the charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct. Twice after he was first locked up in the county jail on a charge of malicious cutting, Matthews escaped, and once he got as far away as East St. Louis. He was brought back and locked up. Another time he was arrested in this city and it was then he was sentenced in police court to pay a fine and costs amounting to $103. When he is finally released the Fourth of July will have come again and he will have been more than one year in jail.

SCHOOL NOTES

The playlet, "The Frontiersman," written by Frank White, a student of the seventh grade at the Washington school building, was given by the pupils in the high school auditorium yesterday and a large crowd was well pleased with the efforts of the youths who composed the cast.

The play was a story of the early settlement of Kentucky and was replete with thrilling Indian captures and rescues put forth according to the idea of the average small boy. Five cents admission was charged and the amount raised will go towards buying pictures for the rooms.

The orders for pictures that were selected by the teachers of the schools from the Horace Turner exhibit, are being made out today and it is expected that the art studies will be received within two weeks. The fund to buy the pictures was secured by charging an admission fee to the exhibit when it was sent here by the art company a few weeks ago.
